Warren Montgomery, vice-president of the Madison Railways company, and E. J. B. Schubring, attorney for the company, appeared before the railroad commission this morning.

They were accompanied by Mr. Emergency and Mrs. Alleged Deficit. Mrs. Alleged Deficit also brought her children along comprising Interest on Bonds, High Salaries, Sinking Fund and Generous Operating Expenses.

Talks of Emergency

Mr. Schubring, in his opening statement, contended that an emergency exists in the affairs of the local street railway company that it is desirable to have the people [illegible] pay a street car fare of [illegible] instead of five cents.

[illegible] operating expenses in [illegible] of increased wages and increased cost of materials was given [illegible] of the emergency argument. Mr. Schubring contended that [illegible] increased fare is granted [illegible] will be reflected in impaired [illegible] service.

[illegible] crux of the whole hearing [illegible] going to center around [illegible] that are made in the company's statement for interest [illegible] bonds, sinking fund [illegible] and for possible padding of operating expenses.

The sinking fund account is set aside for the retirement of bonds. In the estimate for [illegible] $26,000 is set aside for these purposes. In addition to this Mr. Montgomery later admitted that [illegible] $30,000 was being set aside [illegible] for salaries for members [illegible] Montgomery family.

Ryan Attacks Financial Manipulations Of The Street Railway Company

The following brief compiled by City Attorney Ryan, in opposition to the six cent fare was filed with the Railroad Commission today:

"The City of Madison for answer to the petition of the Madison Railways Company in the above entitled matter respectfully alleges and shows to the Commission:

"That the Madison Railways Company is the successor of the grantee of the street railway franchises granted by the city of Madison in 1892 and has succeeded to all rights and duties of the grantee under that franchise, and that said franchise provides that the rate of fare shall be five cents for one continuous ride in any one direction, and that the said company, its successors and assigns, shall in no case charge or collect from any passenger more than five cents for one continuous ride, and that when a petition was filed with your honorable body charging that the rate of fare provided in said franchise was excessive that the said street railway company, then known as the Southern Wisconsin Railway Company, alleged that this franchise constituted a contract and that the said Commission had no right or authority to change the rate of fare to be collected in that such change would be in violation of the State and Federal constitution.

"The City denies, upon information and belief, that the present rate of fares is inadequate, but on the contrary alleges that they are reasonable and provides a reasonable return upon a fair value of the property of the said street railway company used and useful in the operation of its business.

"That said Madison Railways Company is burdened with a heavy interest charge to meet payments on an overissue of bonds and certificates of indebtedness and that a considerable portion of the bonds and certificates and other evidences of indebtedness now outstanding against the Madison Railways Company represent no actual or necessary investment in the street railway system.

"That the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin in a decision made after a hearing for an application for an increase of bonds in September, 1907, stated that the capital issue of the Southern Wisconsin Railway Company (being the predecessor in interest of the Madison Railways Company) have been shamefully inflated in the past and approximately one-half of the outstanding bond issue seems to have been issued in violation of section 1753, Statutes of 1898.

"That in September, 1907, the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin stated that in round numbers the bonded indebtedness then outstanding of the Southern Wisconsin Railway Company amounted to $96,000 per mile; that the total amount of bonds then outstanding and authorized amounted to $160,000 per mile; while the cost of reproduction new at that time was less than $31,000 per mile; that the $685,000 par value of bonds held in trust by the Citizens' Savings and Trust Company of Cleveland, Ohio, more than represented the full value of the Madison street railway property; and that neither the $450,000 par value of bonds held by the Madison & Interurban Traction Company, nor the $50,000 par value of bonds held by the Southern Wisconsin Traction and Light Company, represent any actual and necessary investment in the Madison street railway system, not to speak of the $815,000 of bonds, par value, authorized to be issued, but not then issued by the Southern Wisconsin Railway Company.

"The City further alleges that the application for the bond issue of 1907 was alleged to have been made for the purpose chiefly of extending its line from the junction of Atwood Avenue and Winnebago Street on Winnebago and North Street to the city limits and that the city opposed the same for the reason that it did not believe that the proposition to make such extension was made in good faith, and that although the petition to issue said bonds was granted that the extension has never been made to the city limits, and that this Company has laid no tracks on North Street, and that the extension on Winnebago Street was not made until the year of 1916 and then not until after the Railroad Commission had ordered the same.

"The City further alleges, upon information and belief that there has been a reorganization of the Company owning the Madison railway system since said decision in 1907, and alleges on information and belief that the re-organization did not succeed in squeezing the water out of the bonds, but that a large portion of the present bond issue upon which the street

LOYALTY MEET STARTS WITH TILT

T. C. Richmond Ready to Leave, if it Resembles G. O. P. Convention

BANCROFT CHAIRMAN

Explains Use of Word "Republicans" as Synonomous of Loyalty

The third district republican convention meeting at the capitol, Friday afternoon, nominated Levi H. Bancroft of Richland Center as permanent chairman and elected W. H. Kiekhofer, Madison, secretary.

The convention was called to order shortly after two o'clock by former Attorney General Frank L. Gilbert of Madison.

"At no time in the history of our country has a representative been charged with greater responsibility than will be the representative from the third congressional district in the next congress," declared Mr. Bancroft.

"We must redeem Wisconsin from the stigma under which she has labored. This stigma was placed on her by no act of the people of the state. When the president reached the point where it was inevitable, Wisconsin was the only state out of 48 where a majority of its delegates in congress voted against war. The congressman from this district voted against war and we are assembled here today to nominate a loyal man to make a campaign on the republican ticket for congress from this district, who will redeem this state."

A row nearly started just after the speech of Mr. Bancroft. T. C. Richmond of Madison arose and inquired whether this was an old-fashioned republican convention in contradistinction to a democratic convention." He said that if it was he did not want to participate in it longer. He had understood that the convention was called for the purpose of uniting all parties upon a loyalist candidate and if such were not the case he could not remain.

Chairman Bancroft said that the reason he had used the word "republican" in his remarks was that republicans and loyalty were synonymous.

"I cannot agree with that and the speaker knows different," declared Mr. Richmond and he took up his hat to leave the convention hall. "Now wait a minute Mr. Richmond, we are all gathered here for harmony."

Frank L. Gilbert then gained the floor and said that the original call for this convention was as broad as the English language would make it and that there was no attempt to make it a party convention.

Following Gilbert's speech, Chairman Bancroft modified his remakrs, apologizing to Mr. Richmond, and Mr. Richmond remained with the convention.

The convention elected a resolutions committee, one member from each assembly district as follows: Crawford county, Alvin Peterson; Dane county first, Frank L. Gilbert; Dane county second, Nels Holman; Dane county third E. F. Cramer; Grant county one, W. M. Smith; Grant county 2, W. J. Brennan; Green county, Max Booth; Iowa County C. C. Spenceley; Lafayette county, E. F. Conley; Richland county, D. G. James.

Committee on credentials was elected in the same manner as follows: Crawford county, Scott Earle; Dane county one, W. E. Collady; Dane county 2, Simon Farness; Dane county 3, H. A. Stone; Grant county 1, R. A. Goodlad; Grant county 2, David James; Green county, F. J. Bolender; Iowa county, Frank Martin; Lafayette county, B. C. Snyder; Richland county Harry Baily.

"BILLY" WINS HEARTS AND SILVER COINS TO AID RED CROSS

WILLIAM ENGELFRIED, JR.

With his little hands full of money, 50 cents pieces being the most prevalent, little William Engelfried Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Engelfried, Sr., Milwaukee, was doing his bit for the Red Cross Friday morning.

"Billy," 4-years-old, came to Madison Thursday with his parents to attend the annual state encampment of the United Spanish war veterans, and dressed in a miniature reproduction of his father's war uniform of blue and gray, led the Milwaukee drum corps procession through the streets. "Billy" has won the hearts of all the delegates and the Madison people and when he had his picture taken in his uniform and offered them for sale for the benefit of the Red Cross, he found a ready market.

French Gain Montvoisin; Drive Enemy From Oeuilly

LONDON — Forty-eight guns were captured by the French on the first day of the attack. The maximum distance of the advance was six miles and the minimum two miles.

FRENCH ADVANCE

LONDON — According to advices received here today, the French are again advancing and it is probable that the Germans will have to make a readjustment in their line unless they can immediately throw back the French.

PARIS — Between the Aisne and the Marne, in spite of new arrivals of German reinforcements, the allies are making considerable progress and are capturing a large number of prisoners, according to the official statement issued by the war office today.

On the front between Rreims and the Marne the French have recaptured Montvoisin and made progress in the Roi wood and the Courton wood, capturing four cannon and 400 prisoners.

South of the Marne, by a vigorous attack, the French have ejected the enemy from the outskirts of Oeuilly.

Between Rheims and the Marne, Italian troops have taken Moulin d'

BASEBALL HELD NON-ESSENTIAL

WASHINGTON — Professional baseball was held a nonessential occupation under the army work or fight order today by Secretary Baker.

"I have decided that the work or fight regulations include baseball," said Mr. Baker, in announcing his decision.

TODAY'S SITUATION

(By the Associated Press)

American and French troops continue to advance along the line from the Aisne to the Marne.

German reserves, hurried up to meet the counter offensive against the enemy's right flank in the Soissons-Chateau Thierry-Rheims salient, are engaged in the struggle, which is raging with great violence along the whole front.

The reaction of the allies is not restricted to the line from the Aisne to the Marne. South of the Marne, at the point where the Germans had made their greatest advance during the first three days of their offensive, the French have retaken Montvoisin and ejected the enemy from the outskirts of Oeuilly, two miles to the westward.

North of the Marne and between the river and Rheims, the French and Italians have struck back at the German forces, forced their line westward in the Rol and Courton woods, retaken Moulin d'Arde and improved the line at Bouilly.

The capture of four cannon, machine guns and 400 prisoners in these operations is reported.

There is no mention in the official reports of fighting along the Marne east of Chateau Thierry or east of Rheims, in the Champagne sector.

The allied plunge against the German line south of the Aisne, so far as definitely known, has advanced to an extreme depth of nearly six miles, the deepest penetration being at Buzancy, on the western bank of the Crise river, southeast of Soissons.

The railroad leading south from Soissons to Chateau Thierry is thus under the direct fire of the allied artillery, while the railroad leading from Courmelles to Longpont has been cut. Further south the allies have reached Chouy, which is within seven miles of Nanteuil Notre Dame, on the only other line of railroad upon which the Germans can rely for supplies for their forces along the Marne from Chateau Thierry to Dormans. Thus the railroad communications of the enemy are placed in extreme jeopardy.

While it is much too early to consider the allied smash against the German lines as a great success, except insofar as it may well serve to complete the check of the German offensive, the results obtained during the first day's fighting may be reasonably compared with those reported by the Germans after the first day's fighting south of the Aisne in their great attack on May 27.

The allies advanced at all points to an average depth of a little less than three miles. They captured, according to unofficial reports, 13,000 prisoners and 100 cannon.

The number of men involved is not known.

The Germans with 325,000 troops engaged, broke through the allied line north of the Aisne on May 27, and advanced a little more than three miles to the Aisne. They cautpred 15,000 prisoners, according to their own figures. Berlin did not report the captures of cannon in its statement on the first day's fighting.

Although it is probable the allies did not face such strong positions as those held by the French along the Chemin des Dames, the actual results of the first day's battle compare favorably with the German effort on May 27, when the Germans were not called upon simultaneously to face a major offensive against another sector of the line not many miles away.

Artillery Nips Attempt to Take Position; Struggle Fiercest of Offensive

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON — French troops in their counter offensive on the battle zone between the Aisne and the Marne captured 16,000 Nprisoners yesterday according to news reaching London this afternoon.

WASHINGTON — While no announcement of the capture of the city of Soissons has reached the war department, Secretary Baker said today that the fall of that city seems to be indicated by dispatches.

(By the Associated Press)

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT — American and French forces are continuing to advance their spearhead midway between Soissons and Chateau Thierry. The Americans took several towns in the course of the night.

Early this morning the Americans also made further progress.

During the night German reinforcements were coming from that region in the north but the expected counter-attack has not appeared up to an early hour this afternoon.

American troops continue to hold the plateau southwest of Soissons where on Thursday the Germans made their first organized counter-attack. This soon fell down, however, as soon as the American heavy artillery got into action.

This was one of the fiercest struggles in connection with the Franco-American offensive. The battle raged southwest of Soissons for some time. It resulted in the Germans falling back finally under the rain of the heavy gunfire of the Americans.

American Official

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — General Pershing's communique for yesterday confirms press reports of the complete success of yesterday's attacks between the Aisne and the Marne by combined American and French forces.

The dispatch follows:

"Section A. American troops, cooperating with the French, in an attack on the enemy's positions between the Aisne and the Marne, penetrated his lines to a depth of several miles, capturing many prisoners and guns."

"Section B. On the night of July 15 to 16, a platoon of our troops operating east of Rheims, was attacked by a raiding party of 21 Germans. Our men went over the top to meet them and killed the entire party with the bayonet without loss to themselves.

One of our regiments in this same region reports that a party of Germans, with French helmets and coats attempted to penetrate one of our trenches. The leader succeeded in approaching our machine gunner posted at this point, saying that he was French. When within a short distance of the gun, the German threw a grenade which wounded our gunner. The gunner's teammate seized the gun, turned it on the Germans and put them to flight.

"Another of our regiments in the same locality reports that an officer in French helmet and coat approached an outpost guard saying he was bringing back a detachment of French from farther front and requested the guard not to fire. The detachment proved to be Germans in French helmets and coats."

STATE BANKS IN DECREASE FOR 3 MONTHS

Report of Banking Department Shows Money is Being Withdrawn for Use

That the decrease in state bank resources of $3,070,734.85 during the past quarter is not unusual at this time of the year is the statement of A. R. Eemerson, deputy bank commissioner, today. The bank statement issued for 785 state banks today show that the total bank resources on June 29 were $345,352,394.34 as compared with total resources on May 10, of $348,423,129.19.

In spite of this decrease the reports of the past year show that the resources of state banks have increased $23,029,486.25 over one year ago. The statement shows that on June 20, 1917, the state bank resources were $322,322,908.09.

"Just at this time of the year the farmers are spending money for the raising of their crops and have little for sale," said Deputy Commissioner Emerson today. "When the farmers begin to market their crops the resources of the state banks will show an increase."

The largest decrease for the past quarter was in individual deposits subject to check, which showed a decline over May 10 of $4,149,440.12. The next largest decrease was in demand certificates of deposit which showed a decline for the quarter of $3,358,607.75.

FINE OF $50 ASSESSED ON RIPON MILLER

Complaint is Made That Grocers Now Overcharge on Sugar Sales

The Ripon Roller Mills of Ripon have been brought before the enforcement division of the Wisconsin Food Administration for violation of several food regulations.

Operating a feed mill as a flour mill, he obtained a license for his flour mill only, and has neglected to secure one for his feed mill.

He has been receiving wheat from the farmers in exchange of the amount of flour and a due bill for exchange which is payable in the future in flour. As this is a violation of the Food Regulations, the enforcement division has directed the miller to pay to these farmers in cash the amount called for by these due bills and to make a report to the department of the closing of all these transactions not later than August 1st.

Fine of $50 Paid.

It has also been ascertained that the miller has been getting an excessive price for toll and has sold flour at an excessive profit in trading with retail customers.

Fined $50 which is to be paid to the Ripon Red Cross, his mill has also been ordered closed until further order from the Enforcement division.

Complaints on Sugar.

Many complaints have been received by the Enforcement division of the Wisconsin Food Administration that retail merchants have been selling sugar in two pound lots at prices from 18 to 20 cents.

The Food Administration has ruled that all sales of sugar in two pound lots shall not be sold for more than 18c, and any merchant charging more than that amount will be considered guilty of violating the sugar regulations and will be penalized by the Enforcement division.

SOLDIERS TAKE MOVIE LESSONS

CAMP KEARNY, San Diego, Cal. —Every night except those during liberty periods, the spectator in Camp Kearny nowadays may see long columns of men marching without arms, to the nearest Y. M. C. A. or Knights of Columbus building, or sometimes to one of the theatres to take their "movie lesson."

The pictures shown are official war department lessons on everything pertaining to a soldier's duty. "Discipline" is film No. 1 and "How to Shoot" is No. 2. From that they range on through "The Browning automatic rifle" to the "4.7 field gun." An officer thoroughly versed in the subject matter of each film lectures to the men as the film is shown.

Fix Up Camp

An interesting problem is presented to the psychologist by the rapidly-developing craving for beauty evidenced by the men in this cantonment. After spending many months here without attempting any elaborate landscaping about their quarters, nearly every organization here is now spending time and effort to improve the appearance of lawns, flower beds, walks and streets. All sorts of insignia have been built before mess halls, trees and flowers have been planted, artistic windvanes made, bulletin boards ornamented with shields and other designs, rockeries built, and other steps taken to improve appearances.

Some instances which have come to light within the last few days include the following:

"A" company, 145th machine gun battalion, cast letters and insignia designating it in concrete, using bent iron strips for forms, and mounted them on its mess house lawn. A wooden "machine gun" such as is used in camouflage work to deceive the enemy, was erected above these.

The 115th field signal battalion erected a row of discarded clay drain pipes along its officers' row lawn, planting a flower in each pipe. The whole gives an effect of a row of low posts with flowers growing from the top of each.

"K" company, 157th (Colorado) infantry, has decorated its two concrete shields with heavy block letters designating regiment and company, and painted them to represent American shields, except that at the tops, the usual blue fields and white stars have been made cloudy sky backgrounds against which stars stand out in arcs over American eagles.

"I" company, of the same regiment has the same designs except that portraits of Major General Frederick S. Strong, and Colonel Patrick Hamrock, division and regimental commanders, respectively, replace the eagles.

MILITARY EXPERTS ARE ELATED

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS—Military commentators are unanimous in calling Thursday's Franco-American advance a fine success, but deprecate jumping to conclusions as the battle is still going on.

Colonel de Thomasson writes that common prudence dictated that General Ludendorff should keep forces in reserve to carry a thrust on the right flank. By the resistance which the French meet, he adds, it will be known if this elementary precaution was taken. It may be asked, he concludes, if the infatuation which seized Ludendorff after a long series of successes has not led him to make fatal blunders.

JEWS PROVIDE ENTERTAINMENT

FORT BLISS Tex.—The Jewish welfare board is carrying on a work among soldiers of the Jewish faith in camp here which is similar in scope to the Y. M. C. A. and the war camp community service activities. Under the direction of Dr. Samuel Gerson picnics are being given for the Jewish enlisted men, dances held in the community hall of the Jewish temple in El Paso and a scheme of home visiting is being carried out which enables the men of that faith to spend their leaves in Jewish homes in El Paso. For the picnics the El Paso merchants donate trucks and refreshments and entertainment programs are arranged among the Jewish soldiers and the young people of the nearby community.

"Spick" is the universal name among enlisted soldiers for Mexicans. It is strictly an army word for it is never heard outside of army circles. The origin of the word is said to have been in Panama during the canal construction period. One version of its origin is that the natives answered all questions in English by saying "No spicka Engles." From this derivation the noun "spick" has come into general use.

DOG OWNER GIVES COYOTES CHASE

ARESTIA, N. M.— Recently W. H. McKee, an Oklahoman, came here to live. He brought stag hounds, airdales and several other breeds of dogs, and to the wonderment of the citizens made no explanation. There were murmurings by some against making a dog cantonment out of the town, but McKee paid no attention to them.

It was not learned until the morning he brought the first coyote what his business was. Now Artesia has voted him one of its most popular and useful citizens.

Three times a week McKee, with two gray hounds and two stag hounds in his car, drives out on the prairie in pursuit of coyotes. When one is jumped the gray hounds are loosed, while McKee and the stag hounds give chase in the car. All three are in the air most of the time, for New Mexico prairies are not smooth. When the quarry is near exhaustion the stag hounds, as reserves, go over the top and finish the coyote.

Coyotes have destroyed many broods of chickens and numerous lambs in this region. Farmers have offered liberal rewards for their pelts, but McKee says the sport of killings them and the saving of the farmers' herds and flocks is all the reward he wants.

LAKE WINGRA TO BE RAISED TWO FEET

Railroad Commission Orders Change in Level to Prevent Stench

TENTH WARD WINS

Madison Park and Pleasure Drive Association Must Build Concrete Spillway

The level of Lake Wingra will be raised practically two feet above the level at the time of the hearing in May and about two feet above its present level, by order of the Wisconsin railroad commission today. This is a substantial victory for the residents of the tenth ward, who protested against the low level, because of the stench.

The Madison Park & Pleasure Drive association must on or before Sept. 1, 1918, build and thereafter maintain a substantial concrete spill-way in their canal at or about the point where the present spillway is located. The plans for the new spillway must be submitted to the railroad commission for approval. The crest of the new spill-way shall have an elevation at every point not lower than 847.68. This is practically the height contended for by City Attorney Ryan and is at least two feet above the present water level of Lake Wingra.

Close Chapman Ditch

"It is further ordered that the Madison Park and Pleasure Drive association continue to maintain open navigation between Lake Wingra and Lake Monona, and maintain an adequate lock for that purpose, said lock to be so maintained and operated as not to affect the level of Lake Wingra, except as it may be necessary to use water for the purpose of operating said lock for navigation. All plans for the repairing or rebuilding said lock to be submitted to the railroad commission for approval.

"It is further ordered that within fifteen days after the completion of said Spill-way by the Madison Park & Pleasure Drive association, the Lake Forest company completely close the channel and connection between the outer canal and the drainage ditch by filling in said canal and connection at the outlet of the outer canal. Said work to be done in such manner as to completely prevent the flow of water from said canal through or into said connecting canal or passageway to the drainage ditch."

Tenth Ward Wins

The original petition in this matter was brought by Dr. S. H. Chase. Later Tenth ward citizens, headed by Gilson Glasier, took up the fight. It came out at the hearing that some person, "unknown" had wielded an axe and broken down the sluceway.

The petition called attention to the fact that unless the lake was maintained at a high enough level, there was danger that under the deed of Vilas park, that these lands might revert to the University of Wisconsin. The commission's brief is replete with quotations showing that it has the right to fix the level. Chauncey Blake represented Dr. S. H. Chase at the hearings.

ASHLAND CITIZEN FOUL PLAY VICTIM?

Authorities Investigate Death of Real Estate Dealer

(By the Associated Press)

ASHLAND—Authorities of Ashland county began an investigation today to determine the cause of death of Lorenz Fick, a real estate dealer and wealthy farmer of Butternut. Fick was found dead in his garage Wednesday. The appearance of the body indicated foul play. He had been in the garage repairing an automobile. A hired man found the body. Authorities found a wound in the head which looked as if it had been made by a bullet.

No motive is known for the supposed murder. Fick was known as a man without an enemy. He leaves a widow and two children.

RYAN ATTACKS FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF STREET RAILWAYS COMPANY

railway company is now paying interest does not represent any actual or necessary investment in the Madison Railways system.

"The City further alleges that it would be unfair and inequitable to the public at this time to raise the fares to provide a fund for the purpose of paying interest on any portion of said bonds which do not represent any actual or necessary investment in the street railway system, especially for the reason as the City is informed and believes that a large portion of said bonds and notes are held and owned by the person owning and controlling the stock of the said Madison Railways Company, and who are the petitioners now before the Commission.

"The City further alleges on information and belief that by reason of the failure of the street railway company to cooperate with the city in the construction of its track at the time when the city was improving its street that a large amount of money has been wastefully expended by the street railway company and as an illustration cites the improvement of University Avenue between Park Street and Charter Street where said street railway company refused to make such improvement at the time the City was improving said street with asphalt upon a concrete foundation, and that a short time after said street was so constructed the said street railway company cut the pavement from the center of said portion of said avenue and laid its double track thereon paving said portion of the said avenue with creosoted blocks upon a concrete foundation; that at the time the said avenue was improved by the City the necessity then existed for a double track to be laid thereon by the street railway company; that the said Madison Railways Company and its predecessors have not only failed to co-operate with the City of Madison as aforesaid so as to prevent wasteful expenditure of money, but have failed to co-operate with the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin in making needful extensions and have failed to keep their promises made to said Commission to make needful extensions, for proof whereof the City refers to Vol. 14 W. R. C. R. page 600.

"That the said street railway company not only has failed to make needful extensions until ordered by the Railroad Commission so to do but has failed and neglected to furnish reasonable service to the public, and that the Commission has been compelled to order that reasonable and adequate service be furnished; that the street railway company has deliberately violated the orders of said Commission with respect to said service and particularly with respect to the headway ordered by this Commission on October 6, 1918, to be maintained.

"The City further alleges that if the Madison Railways Company is unable at the present rate of fares to meet its obligations and discharge its duty to the public it is because of mismanagement and shameful manipulation and over issue of bonds and certificates of indebtedness, and that it would be unlawful and inequitable to the public to allow the said Madison Railways Company to capitalize its errors and mistakes to the detriment of the public."

"The city further alleges that the Madison Railways company is not now discharging its duty in regard to the obligation to render adequate service to the public, and particularly in taking care of the peak-load.

"The city further alleges that the Madison Railways company and its predecessors and interests, although earning excessive returns and having funds available therefor, has failed and neglected to pay its car men a reasonable and adequate wage.

"That instead of paying an adequate wage to its laborers it did manipulate its finances so as to pay a large amount of interest on bonds and other securities of indebtedness that represented no real investment in the street railway property.

"That upon the filing of this petition with the commission, which gives nothing with respect to the income or expenses of the company nor the amount of wages paid to its employes, nor any data or information whatever, the said Madison Railways company bought space in newspapers and advertised the fact that its petition was pending before the Railroad Commission with the purpose of influencing the public with respect to its application, and attempting to make it appear that it was an application solely for the purpose of taking care of its car men instead of having the petition determined upon its merits."

Fond du Lac Electric Company Says it Would Reduce Fare

The Eastern Wisconsin Electric company will grant special tickets to workmen between Fond du Lac and North Fond du Lac, good at certain hours of the day was the testimony of R. H. Smith, vice-president of the company at the hearing for increased fares.

The entire morning was taken up with a discussion of the Fond du Lac situation and this afternoon Fred Eaton, Oshkosh, will present the views of his city.

Smith said that the increase of fares asked for between Fond du Lac and North Fond du Lac was from five cents to ten cents. He said that the company would be willing to sell eight tickets for one dollar for use between Fond du Lac and North Fond du Lac, but that these tickets would be good only one hour in the morning and one in the evening. J. Doyle, Fond du Lac, represented to "Soo" shops and C. Freeman, the village of North Fond du Lac.

RYAN ATTACKS STREET CAR COMPANY CLAIMS

pany itself, the real earning for the year 1918 is something over $50,000 a year, which is also aside from the $20,000 in salaries paid to the Montgomerys.

An interesting comparison between the statement filed by Mr. Schubring this morning and a bond circular sent out by Mr. Montgomery several years ago is illuminating. For the purposes of this investigation Mr. Schubring showed that in the fiscal year 1916 the company had a deficit of $21,144.97. When Mr. Montgomery went out to sell bonds, however, he issued a circular based on the 1915 business showing a surplus of $64,000. In other fords, between Mr. Montgomery selling bonds in 1915 and Mr. Schubring seeking a 6 cent fare on the basis of 1916 business the earnings of the company fell off $85,000 in one year.

Mr. Schubring also furnished the commission with a table, which appears in adjoining columns, showing the estimated business of the company for the year ending June 30, 1919. For some reason the 1918 gross revenue is taken for this estimate. It will be noted that 50 per cent has been added to maintenance, 12 cents an hour for increased labor costs, and liberal additions for taxes. Then come interest on bonds, notes, accounts payable and reservations for sinking fund, making a combined total of approximately $95,000. The statement also includes $20,000 set aside for the salaries of the Montgomery family. So that even on the basis of their own figures, not allowing for interest on bonds and sinking fund charges, the company will at least break even for 1919.

Attorneys for the city, however, contend that the actual earnings of the company for the last three years have been about 17 to 20 per cent.

In his statement this morning Mr. Schubring said that the increased expenses of the company for 1919, based on $20,000 in increased cost of materials and a ten cent increase for the men, would be about $66,000.

The Company Finances

Mr. Ryan, in his statement, contended that the commission should not be interested in big interest charges paid on bonds and notes but on the amount of money actually invested in the company. Mr. Ryan stated that the amount of stocks, bonds and notes against the company is far in excess of the real value of the company.

Mr. Ryan attacked the company for spending large amounts of money in advertising in seeking to influence the members of the common council and people in general without giving the real facts.

Mr. Schubring stated that over $1,000,000 in cash had been put into the company.

"Will you offer evidence on that?" asked Mr. Ryan.

Mr. Montgomery stated that the outstanding bonds were not held by the Montgomery family but admitted that F. W. Montgomery had come into possession of $350,000 in stock through the liquidation of a big block of bonds held by Mr. Montgomery a few years ago.

Mr. Montgomery stated that unless higher wages could be paid to the men much of the best help would be lost to the munition shops of the city which are paying higher wages.

NERVOUSNESS ON THE DECLINE

Doctors Encouraged, They Hold Out Hope for All

"Nothing wrong but my nerves." We hear it at home, at work and everywhere. Certainly, nervousness is a disease. A man or woman might better have a broken leg than a shattered, run down nervous system.

Overwork and worry drains the nerve cells and centers of all their strength and vitality, then you get your sleepless nights, poor blood, nervousness, worry and fear that goes with a worn-out, broken-down nervous system. The better doctors of today know just what to do in cases of this kind. They know that a few weeks' use of Phosphated Iron rarely fails to strengthen, stimulate and feed the Phosphate-hungry nerve centers.

Phosphated Iron certainly does take hold, The way the majority of patients come back is remarkable. You can almost see their nerves grow steady, strong and peaceful.

What a change in appearance, too. The cheeks become filled out and flushed with the healthy ruddy glow that only pure, red, ironized blood can give, eyes sparkle, their step has the spring and swing of youth and their whole system seems to be alive with energy and good spirits.

Mr. Nervous Man of Woman, Phosphated Iron will do all this for you if you will give it a chance. Do not drag around, all in and half dead another day when help is so near. Get busy! and be a live one once again.

To insure doctors and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to give you pills or tablets. Insist on capsules. —C. H. Nuffs, 109 King St., and lead-

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS — L'Homme Libre, without intending to divulge the number of prisoners and guns captured, says it is fully equivalent to the number announced by the Germans as having been captured on July 15. (The German official statement on Tuesday announced that 13,000 prisoners had been taken Monday.)

FIXES LIMIT ON COAL DELIVERIES

Fuel Administrator Plans for Fair Basis of Distribution

Orders of less than six tons of coal will be delivered in full but no more than 15 tons will be delivered to any single consumer, according to the order of George E. Gary, Dane county fuel administrator, planned to cut the city coal deliveries from two-third to one-half. If any coal remains after all orders are filled it will be distributed upon a fair basis. This ruling applies to all anthracite coal except buckwheat.

The supply of buckwheat coal is sufficient because of the fact that it was formerly used almost entirely by malters and brewers, who are now allowed no hard coal and only 60 per cent of the former amount of soft coal.

Madison's allotment of hard coal is 58,000 tons and orders have already been placed for 54,000 tons.

NEWS NOTES OF INTEREST TO ORGANIZED LABOR

TO ORGANIZE WOMEN OF WISCONSIN

Mrs. E. F. Bickel of Oshkosh Sends Out Plans for Patriotic Leagues

The Woman's committee through its health and recreation department of which Mrs. E. F. Bickel of Oshkosh is chairman, has started a campaign to secure a uniform organization of all young women in the state. To this end a definite plan has been forwarded to all county chairmen who are instructed to begin at once to form local branches of the Patriotic league, which will become a sort of junior woman's committee. Girls joining it will take a pledge, be given a button to wear and will be required to register for some form of war service. The pledge to be taken is as follows:

I pledge myself to express my patriotism
By doing better than ever before whatever I have to do.
By rendering whatever special service I can to my community and country.
By living up to the highest standards of character and honor and helping others to the same.
By keeping myself physically fit for service.

Opportunity for registration in several varied forms of war work will be given. The purpose of the league as set forth in the circular letter sent to county chairmen is: To provide girls and young women with the opportunity to work out in practical ways the prevailing desire to help; to train each member to undertake conscientiously and systematically some necessary defense work; to teach girls the value of organized effort; to keep girls physically fit by interesting them in wholesome recreation; to keep girls mantally fit and morally clean by providing wholesome fun and entertainment; to teach girls personal and social hygiene and impress upon them the need of the highest type of moral standards as the basis of their personal welfare and the welfare of the nation at large.

LABOR TO STAY OUT OF DRY FIGHT

Anti-Saloon League Ends Attempt to Win Workers to Cause

Efforts of the Wisconsin Anti Saloon League to get organized labor to engage in the wet and dry campaign, have ended.

State Superintendent, R. B. Hutton, has sent a letter to John Geerlings, a delegate to the state convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor, explaining the situation. It follows:

"Since the labor leaders of the dry states are now out with signed statements favoring prohibition, though they opposed it before they had seen it in operation, we believe we are justified in asking the support of organized labor. Nevertheless, it is probably true that, judged from the standpoint of labor legislation, it is wiser for you to keep entirely out of the wet and dry fight, and we will therefore, refrain hereafter from attempts to secure official indorsement from labor bodies; provided, of course, that the same rule applies on the side of the wets."

In Mr. Geerlings' letter of request he said:

"Labor has a list of laws it wants for its own good. If we indorse your plans we lose support of wet congressmen and state legislators, and vice versa. For our own sake we should keep hands off, as we have learned to our cost. Both you and the wets claim great interest in labor. Now I ask you to show it by not asking labor to take up outside issues to their own hurt."

WOMEN IN WAR INDUSTRIES

NEW YORK— More than 1,500,000 American women are now engaged in war industries, according to a recent survey made under the direction of the national league for women's service.

In England 3,000,000 women have replaced men in business. During the four years of the war the number of women in English government offices increased from 66,000 to 133,000; the number of women munition workers from 2,000 to 117,000; the number of women employed in banks from 9,500 to 46,000.

SOLDIERS' INSURANCE

WASHINGTON — America's fighting men in the last week made applications to the war risk insurance bureau for more than a billion dollars' worth of government insurance, according to an announcement made by the treasury department. These, in the opinion of the treasury, will probably increase the percentage of American soldiers insured to 95. The total amount of insurance on the bureau's books, June 28, was $21,565,699,000, with 2,570,455 men insured, for an average of $8,387 each.

HORSE SHOERS' STRIKE.

NEWARK, N. J. — Horse Shoer's union No. 22 has declared a strike because the master horse shoers refused to increase wages $1.25 per day, pay $1 an hour for overtime and grant half holiday on Saturday. They had previously been receiving $3.75 and $4 but now want $5.50.

LADY DOCK WALLOPERS.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—Sixteen women in overalls are wrestling daily with 132 pound bags of coffee and hundredweights of sugar, working side by side with muscular men long used to the job. They are the new lady stevedores hired by the New York Dock company.

There would be 19 of these female dock wallopers were it not for the fact that three of the number engaged were fired on account of their cussing.

Among the present 16 are an author, a former vaudeville star, several widows, and two negro women. Their hours are 7 a. m. to 5 p. m. five days a week. They are getting 52½ cents an hour, the rate paid to men.

INCREASES SECURED.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—The plumbers have been granted an increase of $1 per day, as the result of a strike which was continued for two months. Without a strike the carpenters were granted an advance, dating from July 1, of 7½ cents per hour. Building laborers have established a minimum wage of 50 cents per hour. Inside electrical workers have been on strike since May 1 to enforce a minimum wage of $6 per day.

WIRE THEIR APPRECIATION

WASHINGTON — President Wilson has received the following telegram, signed by the president and secretary of the English General Federation of Trade unions, England.

"The General Federation of Trade unions in conference at Leicester offers sincere appreciation of America's service to the cause of liberty in this world crisis. Labor welcomes American intervention and has implicit faith in her determination to see that democracy shall not suffer defeat."

PAINTERS ON STRIKE

MERIDEN, Conn.—The union painters of the city have been on strike for two weeks. They demand a daily wage of $5 and recognition of their union. When they served a written notice on the boss painters that they desired a conference to reconsider the demands, no response was received. Because of that action the men are forcing the fight for recognition.

SEND OUT SECOND QUESTIONNAIRES

To determine whether men placed in deferred classes in 1917 are still entitled to remain in those classes, draft boards, under a recent order from Washington, and because of the new "Work or Fight" rule, are sending out to registrants another questionnaire, much briefer than the first.

The blank sent out must be returned within three days. Registrants in work classed as non-productive by the government are bound to show this in the blank. The statements made on the blank are considered as binding as if made under oath. The Selective Service regulations make misstatement a perjury.

Attention of registrants is called, especially, to the following sections of the regulations:

"Registrants to report change of status. Every registrant shall, within five days after the happening thereof, report to his Local Board any fact which might change or affect his classification.

Failure to report change of status as herein required, or making a false report thereof, is a misdemeanor punishable by one year's imprisonment."

LABOR OPPOSES DRY AMENDMENT

State Federation Adopts Resolution on Subject at Convention

RACINE—The Wisconsin State Federation of Labor Thursday adopted a resolution opposing the ratification by the state legislature of the constitutional prohibition amendment.

The federation went on record as opposing the Sabath bill in congress which provides for the granting of citizenship to enemy aliens who came to this country as children.

A resolution favoring the building of homes by all municipalities and renting them to workers at cost was adopted.

President Wilson was appealed to in another resolution to use his best endeavors to urge the granting of a new trial to Thomas J. Mooney of California, "in order that the ends of justice might be served and the guilty parties apprehended."

WANT SHORTER HOURS

THOROLD, Ontario, Canada.—Six hundred paper makers and sulphide are on strike to secure more pay and eight hours per day. The paper mill is owned by the Ontario Paper company. The machinists employed by the same company are also out supporting the other workers. The company offered to concede the machinists the shorter hours and an increase in wages to 69 cents, but they rejected the offer until a settlement is made with the other strikers.

SHOPMEN'S WAGES FIXED

WASHINGTON—The board of railroad wages and working conditions of the railroad administration has made its recommendations on the complaint filed by the mechanical shop crafts that the wage recommendations recently made were not satisfactory.

HIGH COURT WILL HEAR JITNEY CASE

The street jitney bus controversy in Kenosha is coming to a crisis, according to late reports. It now remains for the supreme court to decide whether or not the railroad commission can legally order jitney busses not to operate on streets which have a street car service.

Some time ago the street car company discontinued service because of an employes' strike for higher wages and the competition of the jitneys which cut down the company's earnings. The railroad commission ordered the street cars to continue operating following an appeal by the city and the jitneys were ordered to keep off the streets on which there were car lines.

THE TABLE

Corn Flour Griddle Cakes (from above menu)—One and one-half cups corn flour, one teaspoon salt, three-fourths teaspoon soda, one egg, one and one-half cups sour milk. Sift dry ingredients, add egg and milk. Beat well with a wire whisk, and drop by spoonfuls on hot griddle rubbed over with a piece of turnip.

Southern Pone—One cup milk, one-half cup granulated Indian meal, one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon shortening, one-half teaspoon baking powder, one egg. Scald milk and add gradually Indian meal, salt and shortening. Cool slightly and add egg, well beaten, and baking powder. Turn into a greased baking dish and bake in a moderate oven thirty-five minutes. Cut in pie-shaped pieces for serving.

Conservation Baked Brown Bread—Two cups corn flour, four cups cornmeal, one rounding teaspoon soda, one level teaspoon salt; sift all together.

Combine three cups buttermilk with four tablespoons dark baking molasses and into this stir the dry ingredients until a smooth, very stiff batter results.

Fill bread pans two-thirds full and bake one hour in moderately quick oven, covering with inverted empty pan during first half hour in order to prevent the top crust becoming so very hard.

Corn flour is quite as satisfactory as wheat flour as a "binder" to prevent crumbling.

This makes two medium sized loaves of slightly closer texture than the usual "steam two hours, bake one" formula. Serve warm or cold.

If to one loaf you add one teaspoon ginger, half teaspoon cinnamon and two-thirds cup sugar, a very palatable ginger bread results.

Sour milk and soda or sweet milk and baking powder may be used if a rounding tablespoon of shortening is added.

USE STEAM FOR CANNING

Those who wish to save time and labor in canning can purchase steam-pressure canners, which produce temperatures higher than 212 degrees F., or that of boiling water, and shorten the period of processing.

Pressure cookers, which are light to handle and which may be obtained upon the market in various sizes, are especially well adapted to home canning, and at the same time are most valuable for the quick and effectual preparation of such foods as cereals, beans, meats, etc., which ordinarily require long cooking. They may be used to advantage three times a day, the year round, and the investment of the small amount of money required to purchase one of these is real kitchen economy as regards time, fuel and work.

The use of such an outfit and also full directions on filling, heating and sealing ordinary cans are given in bulletins supplied free on request to the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

The national war garden commission, Washington, D. C., will also send advice and directions for canning by the steam process.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of sixteen. I care nothing for going out evenings because I devote my time to my school studies and Red Cross. But whenever I go out and at school I make friends very easily and every one seems to love me.

I do not care anything about boys, although when I am friendly with them they want me to keep company with them, which I will not do. I tell them I want to be their friend, but they always say I am so strange because everybody loves me and I am so cold with them. My mother wants me to go out evenings and is always bragging about my talent and popularity, which I hate. I tell her, but it makes her very angry.

I went to another town and while I was there I met a nice boy. The girl I went to see tells me he wants to bring her with him over to see me and we three go to an entertainment. Would this be all right if my parents do not object?

INDIFFERENCE.

It will be all right to go to the entertainment with the boy and the girl since your parents do not object. You are very much too young, however, to go with boys as a general thing.

ORDERS 30,000 GALLONS OIL FOR STREETS

Street Superintendent George Sullivan announces that he has sent in an order for 30,000 gallons of road oil. This, added to the 20,000 which have already been received, is the extent of the quota assigned to the city by the fuel administration. Effort is being made to secure more, however.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two little girls thirteen years old. We have been selling ice cream and lemonade and giving our profits to the Red Cross. Now we can't get sugar for ice cream. Won't you please suggest some way for us to make money for the Red Cross? We are anxious to do our bit during vacation.

TWO WILLING WORKERS.

You are two very young girls but I think you could get work taking care of babies in the afternoon. Go to the Red Cross headquarters and say that you are willing to do such work. They will mention it to the Red Cross workers for you and in that way you can find mothers who will pay you for your time.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: There is a married man who has his office near where I live. He is about fifty years old. He seems to be very pleasant. We have never met, but every time we see each other he looks as if he wants to speak to me. He knows my father. So one day last week father and I were out and he spoke to father. Since then when I see him he speaks very nicely to me. Is it all right to speak to him?

IRIS.

It is all right to speak to him.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: How many dates a week do you think a girl should have after she is eighteen or older?

MARY.

A girl should not have more than three engagements a week. Her health cannot stand any more than that. Girls who go out too many nights grow old before they should and lose their endurance.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am eighteen years old and I am married to a soldier who is in France now. I have been married two months. I get very lonely, as I used to go out with fellows almost every night. Do you think it would be wrong for me to accept dates from former sweethearts? They call me up and ask me to go places with them.

ISABELLE.

Now that you are married it would not be right for you to have dates other men. If you cannot be true to your husband you should not have married.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been keeping company with a soldier who expects to leave for France soon. He has asked me to take care of his mother's jewelry for him while he is away and to keep it if he never comes back. His mother is dead and she left him her engagement ring and a watch to give to the girl he marries. Do you think I should keep this jewelry for him while he is away? He acts as if he loved me, but he has never told me so. I am quite sure that I love him, although you would say I am too young to know.

UNCERTAIN.

It would be all right to keep the jewelry for him while he is away.

MY WORD! AN EMBARGOIST AMONG THE ANNOINTED

IF we may be pardoned a little flippancy, the general staff of the Wilcox campaign recently announced is somewhat like a chorus girl's tights,—getting somewhat soiled with wear.

* * *

Recently Roy summoned a few of the annointed, who assayed 100 per cent pure on the loyalty question, and announced they were of the chosen who were to redeem Wisconsin in the approaching campaign. Pursuant thereto, a campaign committee went forth resplendent in lily-white robes breathing the sanctity of the chosen. For had they not been stamped as loyal plus, patriotic plus and plus plus in every way?

* * *

Our office Egyptologist, the omniverous scoundrel, appears to have been busy again and, as they say in the upper strata, has smeared the procession. He recently splattered mud over John Chapple's patriotic linen by announcing that John had voted for a resolution calling upon our congressmen to vote against war.

Our office ivory hunter has just returned from the newspaper jungles in the historical library and he seems to have smeared another one of the annointed. His penetration into the archives at the library reveals that a certain Herr Otto Bosshard of La Crosse will be compelled to submit to a rigid dry cleaning process. When Herr Otto was brought into camp there was rejoicing at the Wilcox tepee. Progressives of the Bosshard type had been rather scarce on the prairies and a few were sorely needed to keep the Wilcox craft from capsizing on the stalwart side.

It appears that in their anxiety to get Otto in camp the otherwise stern and uncompromising members of the committee had been rather lax in administering the patriotic vaccine to determine whether or not Otto would show any anti-war or embargo reactions. And so Otto was certified and taken in before the high priest where sat those who were pulsating with plus patriotism.

* * *

The ukases which come from the inner recesses of the Wilcox throne room, via the Milwaukee Sentinel and the Eau Claire Leader, are vitriloic in their denouncement of those members of congress who voted against the war, conscription and who were known to be friendly to the embargo. Friendliness to the embargo, especially is the apex of disloyalty in the estimation of the Wilcox entourage no crime of disloyalty is greater. And so the governor is jabbed and prodded by the Wilcox platoon because of his early friendliness for the embargo and try as he may to be patriotic the Wilcox phalanx refuses to allow him to be patriotic.

* * *

We don't know what is going to happen to Herr Otto when revelations are made unto the annointed but, my word, THEY HAVE AN ADVOCATE OF THE EMBARGO IN THE HOLY OF HOLIES. Here is Herr Otto, the sleek little rascal, getting by such rectitudinous loyalty sentries as John Whitehead and W. S. Goodland with an embargo record that is as clean cut as they make 'em.

* * *

Our office ferret says that the chronicles of the 1915 legislature contain the Bosshard indictment. We surmise that if these chronicles are laid before the Wilcox general staff that Herr Otto's batting average of 100 per cent in the loyalty league will be sadly dented.

It appears, according to the scriptures of the 1915 session that on Feb. 2, 1915 one James Vint, one of the Victor Berger tribe from Milwaukee, laid before the solons a resolution which read in part as follows:

"Whereas, Bread and meat and money are as necessary as men and guns and bullets for the killing of men in war, keeping food and cash here will save lives on both sides of the Atlantic; and

"Whereas, To carry on the war and to continue the wholesale slaughter the governments of Europe have seized the stores of food and money, sources of credit, railroads and telegraphs; certainly this government is justified in taking similar measures to stop the war and to save lives at home; therefore be it

"Resolved by the Assembly, The Senate concurring, that the legislature of the state of Wisconsin respectfully urge Congress to prohibit the shipping to the war zone of any article that will help to keep the warring armies at their murderous work and therefore forbid the lending of money to any government that has plunged its interests into war."

This resolution was evidently passed in the assembly for on March 8 we find it before the august solons on the other side.

Senator Perry moved that the resolution be consigned to helangon. Did Herr Otto's vote help to smother the resolution? Not much. The official chronicles for that day show that Senator Bosshard was in his seat and voted against nonconcurrence. Think of it,—chubby little Otto who recently emerged, sweet as a debutante, in the regalia of the Wilcox chosen, getting his new store suit on with an embargo record bigger than a house.

But, seriously speaking: Why is it that in these days an early friendship for the embargo, in one case, forever condemns the usefulness of a man along patriotic lines while in other cases nothing is said about it? Why is such a noise raised about Cooper's stand on the embargo and why is there such a silence on Bosshard's record? Do we have two sets of patriotic yardsticks these days?

Doesn't it all come right down to this proposition?: If you are with the gang that is using loyalty as a screen to the attainment of other hidden ends your patriotism is certified to in a hurry; but if you are opposed to the gang you will continually be subjected to the charge of being disloyal.

But as Chesterfield says:

"Take rather than give the tone to the company you are in. If you have parts you will show them more or less upon every subject; and if you have not, you had better talk sillily upon a subject of other people's than of your own choosing."

On The Square-- And Off

By the Observer

An automobile party of Madison men and women was passing through Monona park last Sunday. The party decided to stap off at the pavilion and enjoy some dancing to the music of the player piano. You can imagine their surprise when they were in the middle of a dance to hear the strains of "Die Wacht am Rhine" break forth from the music box. They were highly indignant and left the floor immediately.

Somebody ought to see that a substitute is installed in the Monona park music box. What's the matter with "Little Buttercup" or "Keep the Home Fires Burning"?

THOSE LITTLE OLD PROFITS

The sun shines bright on the old mansion door—
'Tis war times, the profiteers are gay;
Bye and bye, the people come a-knocking at their doors,
Then my dear old profiteers, good night.

Oh, weep no more today;
We will sing one song for our dear old profits,
For our dear old profits, good-night.

Mayor Sayle was pleasantly surprised Thursday morning when he returned to his desk at the city hall after attending the national convention of Elks in Atlantic City. And so were quite a number of Madison people. The reason for the surprise is that the city hall clock is again doing its duty, at least on two of its faces.

Several jewelers have tinkered with the clock for the past five or six years but without success. Henry J. Crook, jeweler, living at 421 West Dayton street, has succeeded, after several days' work, in getting the time-piece going again. Mr. Crook reports that it will take him several more days to put it in tip top shape with all four faces working. The dials and hands need painting.

A queer coincident in connection with the starting of the clock is a note in Thursday's "News of the Past" column on the editorial page of the Times. This news note under the heading "Fifty Years Ago Today" makes known the fact that "Madison city hall clock is repaired and working again."

Some of these fellows who are attending the Spanish War Veterans' convention being held here this week, whose hair is showing a tinge of gray around the temples, are mighty anxious to get into Uncle Sam's present scrap. Little groups which gather at the Park hotel and other meeting places invariably discuss the war and its possibilities, and express a desire to don the khaki.

Many of them have made persistent efforts to join the present army in some capacity. Because of their age, they cannot pass the regular line requirements, but because of their experience many of them are being encouraged to enlist for work for which they are fitted.

MR. ROY WILCOX

(From Equity News.)

Mr. Wilcox has announces his candidacy for governor.

He is proclaimed to be the superlatively loyal candidate.

He is proclaimed to stand on a win the war platform. He is announced as a descendant from the patriots of the Revolution.

He has not called a conference nor has he announced any economic program.

He speaks only in general platitudes. The daily press announces him to be a lawyer, a man of culture, and a democrat.

Now probably his ancestry are not nobler than those of Governor Philipp nor of Mr. Tittemore.

We will not waste time on where we came from. Perhaps if Mr. Wilcox investigates the carved hieriphyphs on the Rosetta stone he will find that he comes down ten thousand years from a line of Nile water power kings. This ancestral stuff is nonesense.

We grant Mr. Wilcox is loyal but we deny any degree of uperlativeness. We presume his claim to this high degree of loyalty enimates from the fact that he is leading the fight in Wisconsin to oust Senator La Follette from his Senatorial position.

He lead the fight in the last session for immediate expulsion without trial.

Many intensely loyal men of Wisconsin who will not take their hats off to Wilcox on the patriotic issue thought it was an unusual proceeding for a so-called leader at the bar of justice to demand that sentence may be passed upon a man who was being tried for his honor before the most exalted representative tribunal of earth. But there can be no question that this is Mr. Wilcox's chief differentiating claim to patriotic perfectness.

It is for this reason that the corporations and the great profiteers are with few exceptions squarely behind the candidacy of Mr. Wilcox. He is an ideal candidate for them. He hates La Follette to the death and this promises to satiate their appetite for his destruction.

There is nothing new in their degree of patriotic fervor.

The great water power monopolies will stand by Wilcox and the manager of one great Electric Co. in the Fox River Valley is using his influence under cover to secure his nomination.

It is not too much to say, and one can do it in a perfect square with good conscience, that Mr. Wilcox idealizes in his candidacy the semi-aristocratic inclinations of a certain snobbish social strata in the state. Mr. Tittemore confesses he has no standing with that strata of society.

In this same issue there appears an editorial copy from the Madison Democrat which indicates in a truthful way the real sentiments of the reactionaries. Both Philipp and Wilcox are "Safe" for the "Interests." No question about it!

The truth is Mr. Philipp has flirted with and is now flirting with the Republican Progressive faction of the Republican party; that does not please certain reactionaries.

The further truth is that Mr. Wilcox is near and dear to the heart of the great public utility monopolists and of the great war profiteers. We are not arguing the merit of the case but his chief distinction lies, so far as these great and powerful interests are concerned, in the fact that his candidacy pledges to oust La Follette from the United States Senate.

The patriotism of the profiteer lies first in this fact and justice is a second consideration with them.

Governor Philipp more generally represents the Rockefeller-Ryan-private freight car and transportation monopolies. These monopolies embrace the stock yard monopolies and are allied with the great packing house profiteers.

Mr. Wilcox represents more generally the Rockefeller-Bylesby-Webster-Morgan water power and traction interests. During the late fight of Paul O. Husting in the interest of the peoples' control of water power he was usually confronted with the opposition of the law firm of Bunday and Wilcox of Eau Claire.

The Republican ticket recommended by the May first conference adopted a platform that deals with this question of monopoly. It is up to the farmers and workingmen to say whether the Philipp or the Wilcox or the Tittemore ticket stands for the ideals proposed in that platform. It is a question of principles more than men. It is primarily a question whether men will stand for those priciples after election.

If the farmers act unitedly September 3rd their ticket will win and then we will be able to demonstrate that our program is right and the program of monopoly wrong.

PRESS COMMENT

(From Milwaukee Journal.)

The Democratic state convention did not live up to its opportunity. The committee on resolutions ignored not only the question of prohibiting the teaching of foreign languages in the elementary schools of the state, public and parochial, but it paid no attention whatsoever to the need of more thorough instruction in the language of America in all these schools. A resolution introduced by a Milwaukee delegate, providing that no other language should be taught in any district or graded public school or in any private or parochial elementary school made a strong appeal to the delegates, as the fact that they voted down motions to refer it, to table it and to nullify it by amendment showed. In the end, however, the resolution was talked to death. But the convention did adopt a compromise resolution which declares that American children should "be well grounded in the language of our country, in whatsoever school they may be educated." This means, of course, that whether they attend public, private or parochial schools they should receive adequate training in the English language. It is a significant fact that this is the very object that it was sought to accomplish almost thirty years ago through the Bennett law, which came to disaster. The Democratic party of Wisconsin fought this idea in 1890 and now it indorses it. It is clear, however, that new conditions and recent developments make it necessary that the children of America attending elementary schools should devote all their time for language study to learning English, to the utter exclusion of any foreign tongue, instead of taking English as a sort of side study in any case. The action of the Democratic state gathering on this question, though it lags behind the march of events, shows some disposition to keep moving onward.

All in all the convention did little that struck fire or that will appeal with peculiar force either to the judgment or imagination of men. It selected candidates, for the most part, chiefly for the reason that these were the only candidates that offered themselves or were proposed. The resolutions, to be sure, are strong in their declarations of loyalty, but in the circumstances nothing less could be expected. One resolution, however, has a new ring and a most welcome sound. Let us hope that in making nominations the party will uniformly live up to it. This is it:

"We want no candidates for the Democracy of Wisconsin who fail in any way to measure up to this ideal of American patriotism. Neither do we ask or expect for such candidates any votes from any citizen who in this hour of national peril feels any divided allegiance or who is not heart and soul for America, first, last and all the time."

The underlying idea of this would be an excellent thing for the Republican party to keep in mind when it selects its candidates.

STUNG, OF COURSE!

GERMANS' POISON GAS FAILED TO GET THESE BOYS

The splendid condition of the American troops in France and their unlimited pluck is a constant surprise to the Germans opposed to them. These lads survive gas and liquid fire attacks that the Germans believe terrible enough to kill every human being touched.

The Germans are relying mostly now on mustard gas, which shrivels up the lungs and burns the skin wherever it touches. The boys that survive the gas are left completely exhausted. Absolute rest away from possible injury and even the noise of battle is necessary. The picture shows an ambulance load of American fighters reaching a field hospital after going through a gas attack. Their clothing was loosened and torn off them in many cases by comrades to relieve their suffering and permit free movement.

The Trail of The Profiteer

What he is Doing to Old People and to all Families in Straightened Circumstances—Why Can't Uncle Sam Set the Secret Service on These Fellows, Just as He Does on the Army Grafters, and Put Fear in Their Hearts?

The efforts of an aged veteran of the Civil War and his aged wife to live on a small pension these profiteer times, was related in a recent issue of Capper's Weekly. It was a pathetic little story enough. The old couple, by frugality, had found the pension sufficient to supply all their wants, and had lived happily, until the war with Germany came along and exploitation of every necessity of their living began. As they have no margin of income with which to meet it, it is a blessing for them and for many others that this is summer time and they can grow a little something in a garden to help out. Notwithstanding the old people are dismayed and look with dread to the coming of another winter. It is a dreadful prospect if profiteering must continue.

Life stories of this kind are more or less common in the mail that reaches Capper's Weekly. Here is one from La Cygne, Kan., written by H. H. Bliss:

"This is the second anti-profiteer petition we have sent in to try to have something done to regulate the price of food and other necessities. We were disgusted when our own merchants refused to sign the petition. Still we have to pay more here for the food substitutes we buy with the flour than for the flour itself. In consequence, we cannot buy a small Baby bond, nor even contribute more than a little to the Red Cross. There is plenty of work for those who can work at hard labor, but as I am 72 and my wife 54, it makes it hard for us to live.

"We own our little home here of four lots, all in small fruit, and some of it in garden, and have been 'just living' on it by being very saving. As our shack of a house, which we have occupied since 1902 became so poor and dilapidated it was about to fall down on us it became necessary some time ago to tear it down and put up another one, which cost us something more than $300. Then the high cost of living came on us unexpectedly, put us in debt, and we don't know how we are to pay our debts and interest and live."

Writing from Meade county, in Western Kansas, along the Oklahoma border, where crops have failed, R. S. Hartman reports these conditions of living:

"Governor Capper is taking the right stand on this profiteer business, and I hope he can find some way to stop it. The first man to be regulated by the Government was the farmer, and big business and little business were then left to finish the job of regulating him. The prices on regulated farm products would be all right if they would bring us what we need for our necessities. What we might make on wheat is taken away from us in advance.

"This seems to be a time of general unloading by business of its expenses on someone else. Even the bankers unload on us. If a man borrows $100 for six months, they add the interest and make it all principal, and this requires an extra revenue stamp. The borrower only borrowed $100. He didn't borrow the interest, that is supposed to accumulate after the loan. By the regional or reserve interlocking system, bankers are lending their money several times over. Suppose I borrow $500. They can send my note to a reserve bank and discount it a part of their interest and lend it again and again. This system gives them the free and unlimited use of our credit.

"I paid 10 cents a pound for flaked hominy in the town of Meade and one day this week I bought some in Fowler for 5 cents a pound. The dealer in Fowler told me flaked hominy costs $3.50 a hundredweight delivered and that there had been an advance of only 15 cents in the price. The Meade merchant must have made 6½ cents a pound profit. A work shirt that used to cost us 45 or 50 cents now costs 75 cents or $1, and the quality is lower.

"I have had three wheat failures now in succession. A good part of our kafir will have to be planted the second time and we cannot expect to mature grain on the second planting. How we can get seed wheat this fall to try for another crop, is more than I know at this time."

It will soon be a year since the Government began the regulation of prices and attempting to cope with the profiteer problem. While the headway made so far has not been encouraging it is easy to see why the progress has been so slow. Mr. Hoover frankly confesses that as yet he has not half enough men to run down just the food profiteers, and can only watch the big fellows.

If, as Capper's Weekly has suggested, a part of the secret service the small army of postoffice inspectors, and investigators from the Federal Trade Commission and the Bureau of Markets were used in hunting out the gougers and bringing them to justice a vigorous 4-weeks campaign would so put the fear of God in their cast-iron hearts that the evil could speedily be wiped out. The Government uses the secret service with excellent results to ferret out army graft. Why not use it to protect a war-tried people from their swarm of profiteer bloodsuckers who are weakening the Nation by unmercifully bleeding the people of their resources?—Capper's Weekly.

OUR FLAG

High on the flagstaff against the skies,
Cherished by cloud which the sun shines through,
Daughter of heaven, our dear flag flies
(With heaven's own stars and heaven's own blue).
In a shaft of light I think must be
God's smile on its pledge to humanity.

Low on the cottage porch it floats,
A tiny cot, built for two—or three—
Where beside it another flag denotes
That household's deep sincerity—
A smaller flag with a single star
Which tells of a patriot gone to war.

High in the heavens or close at hand
It is in its place, that flag we love—
In reach of the humbles in our land
Or lifting our eyes to the skies above.
For it has ever for justice stood
In the sight of men and the sight of God.

Lee Shippey.

THE CURTAINS O' ROME

There, in the city of Caesars—
Where, mid the domes, one dome towers
Over the age-worn doorways
Swinging, the curtains of Rome!

Outside, the noise of the city—
Street cries, the patter of feet;
Inside the dun curtains swaying,
Silence, dim daylight, retreat!

Kneel where the prayers of the three sands
Tremble in pleadings for grace;
Pray for the peace that is halo
For the pale Christ Mother's face.

Memories, poignant and pleading—
Rose window, pillar, and dome.
Incense, and twilight, and silence—
Veiled by the curtains of Rome!

GOVERNMENT HEADS REALIZING NEED FOR PUSHING GAS WARFARE EQUIPMENT

Heads of all war departments at the capital are alive to the fact that gas warfare is playing a big part in the war and is booked to play a more important role. It is estimated that twenty different kinds of gases have been used in the war to date. Each gas means a change in the masks to ward off the poisonous qualities. America is developing its own gases now along with the gas masks.

The War May Make You Wait

We feel it our duty to inform the public of the abnormal conditions that surround the optical business today, due to the war. The outlook is not encouraging.

The leading optical house of London, England, has at this time 20,000 prescriptions waiting to be filled. It will not promise any optical work in less than two months. That means if people break their glasses they cannot get them repaired in less than two months.

That condition exists throughout all Europe, and instead of getting better it is getting worse. The U. S. government, knowing that its men in service over there could not get glasses, has put in a grinding plant at the front and has taken many workmen from this country. These same conditions are beginning to be felt in America.

Today the largest optical factory in America has row upon row of grinding machines idle—because it cannot get men to work them. Another big factory in the East is making field glasses for the army. The optical men ask the co-operation of the public in not expecting their work be gotten out in undue haste. It is essential that absolutely correct lenses be fitted, so that changes will not be necessary, in order to save time and also glass, on account of the threatened shortage.

It behooves the public to use caution in the selection of the man who is to examine and fit the eyes for glasses—not only for the preservation of the eye alone, but to eliminate the unnecessary waste of glass caused by the mistakes of incompetent Optical men or Oculists.

If you anticipate the necessity of glasses we would advise early attention to this all-important matter.

We absolutely do not charge you "one cent more for our superior service" than you pay for the inferior kind some places.

AT THE FULLER

A fascinating story is "Wild Youth," the Paramount picture now being played at the Fuller Theatre. This was picturized from Sir Gilbert Parker's novel by J. Stuart Blackton, who also personally supervised its direction. It is a story of a young girl married to an aged man who abuses her. She is saved after a runaway accident by a young neighbor, who later is accused of her husband's murder. He clears himself, however, through certain unexpected evidence which appears, and a few months later the two young people are happily married. The cast includes Theodore Roberts, Louise Huff, Jack Mulhall, Adele Farrington and James Cruze, of "Million Dollar Mystery" fame.

State News

WAUPACA — Three burglars broke into the post office at Iola Tuesday night, blew the vault and obtained some postage stamps and a meerschaum pipe. Entrance was made through a back window. Girls in the telephone exchange next door saw the burglars but were threatened with death by one of them who stood guard until the others had gotten away. When the alarm was given the fire bell was rung and a chase started but without result so far as known.

MARINETTE—Capt. A. F. Lyon-Campbell, Florence, who is stationed at Camp Dodge in the U. S. medical service, expects to leave soon for overseas service. Capt. Lyon-Campbell, who has long been an American citizen, comes from one of the old and honored families of England. Four of his brothers, all officers in the British army, lost their lives at the battle of Ypres. He recently received word that two of his cousins had been killed in action and two other cousinse are now prisoners of the Turks.

MARINETTE—Marinette farmers, like those in Outagamie county, have found the letter "B" on blades of oats. One farmer sent several of the blades to a local newspaper office with this information: "'B' stands for everything we got to do win the war, namely, 'Get Busy,' 'Save Bread,' 'Buy Bonds, Berlin or Bust.' Yours for all four of them, John Beetz, Coleman, Wis."

MARINETTE—This county will will send 227 men to Camp Zachary Taylor next Monday. The men will arrive from various parts of the county Sunday afternoon and will meet at the high school where they will be served with supper by a citizens' committee. The evening will be devoted to a patriotic program in their honor in the high school auditorium. The churches will suspend services Sunday evening to enable the public to attend this patriotic event and the Rev. John H. Boose, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will deliver the farewell address.

MARINETTE—The third annual event of the Harmony Fair association will be a "Win the War County Fair" to be held the first week in September. The premiums will be Thrift stamps and Baby bonds and the three-day agricultural show will be featured with patriotic events. Eminent Liberty bond and Red Cross speakers will deliver addresses, the Liberty chorus will put on musical programs, and there will be other war features. The farmers are manifesting great enthusiasm over the event.

LA CROSSE—"I did it just for the adventure. I was surprised to see how easy it was." This was the statement Robert Ayers, West Salem, 23, made to Dist. Atty. Schlabach in confessing his wild west holdup of the saloon of L. J. Schams near Bangor recently. Ayers, with two other boys of West Salem, stole a car at West Salem and held up the saloon while five men were in it and got away with $87 as their booty. All three boys admitted the crime and are being held in jail here pending the coming of a circuit judge to sentence them.

"I believe some of these boys are committing crimes so they won't have to go to war," said Judge Brindley of the county court Tuesday. "I would be in favor of continuing their cases until the war is over."

LA CROSSE—Frank H. Fowler, well known in Wisconsin educational circles, has been promoted from the rank of major to that of lieutenant colonel, it became known Tuesday. He is with the Wisconsin militia in France. Fowler rose from the ranks here. He was made a sergeant in the Spanish-American war and was advanced to the rank of captain which he held when the war broke out. He resigned his position as a school principal here to go to war.

MILWAUKEE—Mrs. Isaac Stephenson, widow of U. S. Senator Isaac Stephenson, wealthy lumberman and pioneer resident of Marinette, has decided to remove to Milwaukee to make her permanent home. She has leased a residence here and will occupy it in early autumn. Her son, Grant T. Stephenson, a commanding officer of a mine sweeper overseas, maintains a residence here.

MILWAUKEE—The first sailor enlisted in Milwaukee to receive the maximum government allowance will be Dennis E. Rice, Pelican Lake, Wis. Mr. Rice is 34, and has a wife and six children. He has more children than has any other man enlisted at the Milwaukee station. He and his family will draw from Uncle Sam pay equal to that which he received from his former employer, the Chicago & Northwestern railroad—$82.50. According to the regulation of the government he will divert half of his $32.60 per month to his wife. In addition, the government will allow his wife $15 per month, his oldest daughter, Mary Amanda, $10, Margaret Louis, 7, and Patricia, 5, $7.50; for Dorothy, 4, Davidica, 3, and Catherine, 3 months, $3. Mr. Rice also took out $10,000 government insurance. Asked what made him enlist, he said:

"I wanted to go and do my part long ago, but it seemed impossible because of my dependents. When I learned that the government made provisions for men situated as I am, I enlisted."

MILWAUKEE—Cyrus L. Philipp, son of Gov. Philipp, a junior at the University of Wisconsin, on Wednesday joined the navy. He will go to the Municipal Pier, Chicago. In joining the navy young Philipp said he preferred service that would give him the most adventure.

BROTHERS ALL—AN INCIDENT IN FRANCE

The scene was a seaport city in France. The negro stevedores of Uncle Sam's forces were playing baseball— playing it tooth and nail, without a thought for anything else in the world. They hadn't been so wrapped up in anything since they landed in France. Suddenly, on the fringe of the thick, noisy, black line of rooters across the outfield, men began to turn their backs on the game, stiffly standing at attention. Over their heads from the direction of the band, came faint but thrilling music, to which they automatically fitted words:

To arms, ye brave, to arms!
We'll form battalions strong,
March on.

"Attention!" shouted the husky lieutenant, who but a moment before had been ragging the pitcher. Mere men, and down the rooters' line yet more men, were straightening, stiffly erect. The runner, ten feet off second, spun half a turn on his heel. The pitcher dropped his ball, the batter his stick. Even the "ump" was called to silence. Away back, the Y. M. C. A. man saw a lazy catcher stand, elbow crooked and with his black hand to the forehead of his wire mask.

The "Marseillaise" had hushed the great American game.

"POP" GEERS WINS AGAIN WITH SINGLE G

Wins Two of Three Fastest Heats of Year in Free for All; Beats Russell Boy

KALAMAZOO — Single G, and Russell Boy split the three fastest heats of the year Thursday afternoon when the former won the sensational free for all pace in the Grand circuit races here on Thursday.

The winner was driven by "Pop" Geers, and took the first heat in 2:01¾. Russel Boy rushed to the front and captured the second heat in 2:00½ and then Single G took the third and final heat in 2:01. Miss Harris M was expected to repeat her victory at Cleveland but the best she could do was to finish second in the second and third heats.

The 2:08 trot, purse $3,000, brought out a field of nine. Wilkes Brewer won in three heats.

The 2:09 pace furnished three fast finishes. Oro Fino won the first heat in a hot brush with Lee Grand and Game of Chance. Verlie Patcheen rushed to the front in the second heat and was a contender all the way, Oro Fino just nosing him out of the wire. While rounding the first turn, Game of Chance broke and pulled up quite lame. Cox jogged him home and he was distanced. Lee Grand won the final heat, outbrushing Oro Fino and Verlie Patchen in the stretch.

The 2:14 pace with nine starters was another battle from wire to wire. Murphy however, landed "the Problem" in front.

An incident of particular interest to horsemen was the sale of a three year old chestnut Peter. Tommy Murphy disposed of him to C. W. Leonard, of Boston, for $25,000. Chestnut is by Peter, the Great.

Red Cross day at Aqueduct race track recently netted $5,070 for the good cause. President James Sheylin of the club announced that everyone, including jockeys and trainers were forced to pay admission that day. This shows clearly what can be done by athletic committtees and promoters to help war funds. The more Red Cross Days and special days for other accredited war organizations these men can stage the more they will help win the war.

Ty Cobb To Succeed Jennings As Tiger Manager? New Yarn

The writer ran across an item in an exchange paper the other evening which announced that this would be Hughie Jennings' last year as manager of the Tigers. The item added—you've guessed it already—that Ty Cobb would succeed him as pilot of the Jungaleers.

The yarn went on to state that Hughie's repeated failures to bring a pennant winner to Tigerland were responsible, that the fans were off him for life and that the club had decided to let him out. Maybe so.

And maybe the Georgia phantom will succeed him as boss. But knowing Tyrus Raymond as we do, we'd like to lay a little bet that he has brains enough to duck the job.

It would be foolishness for Cobb to end his days in baseball as a manager.

Ty is baseball's superman. He will be as long as he plays, even after he slips as a batter, fielder and base runner. Fans always will see him as he is now at his best.

If Tyrus goes from actual playing into retirement he will carry only glory and honor with him. Fans will give him the glad hand every time they see him.

But Tyrus will step into a new game if he decides to become a big league manager.

The fans will forget his wonderful playing ability.

We can see now what would happen. The first time Tyrus allowed one of his hurlers to stay in the box a little longer than the fans thought was proper they would go right home, dig down in their tool boxes and get out all the hammers they owned.

And, boys, how those hammers would ring.

We hate to think of it.

Not that we want to state here and now that Tyrus would not be a successful manager. But we doubt if any human being could accomplish what the major league fans would expect of Ty.

Nothing but a pennant winner the first season would keep their faith in him. The team would have to be in first division every minute.

We know the fan. He doesn't mean to be unfair—but he wants a winner.

Tyrus has shown himself to be one of the wisest men in baseball as a player. It's a good bet that Cobb would pass the buck to someone else if he were asked to turn manager.

We hope he would.

Well Known Wild Man Of Borneo Was Piker Alongside Griffith

It must have been in May, for everybody took a walk

When Clark Griffith, foxy leader of the Washington club, has to use the hook on one of his pitchers because of the hurler's wildness, he probably has a quiet little reminiscent laugh all to himself. For Griff back in the old days, hurled one of the wildest games ever staged. It was against the club Griff is now piloting too.

Griff was pitching for St. Louis in the old American Association days. He tackled the Washington club one day and either went blind or somebody kept moving the plate. He walked fourteen batters and took time enough to hit a couple. He was so wild, too, that the opposition couldn't get a good swing at the elusive ball and he held them to three hits and won his game 3 to 0.

A Chattanooga player, Flagstead, has the honor of leading the Southern league when he closed its game because of war conditions. He was

Now critics claim that Simmons at seventeen is as classy a player as were those two stars at his age. Eddie is to be brought east to show his wares.

The way Swede Risberg played first base for the White Sox when Chick Gandil was called to Cleveland by the illness of his wife put a little cheer in Owner Comiskey's heart. The Swede starred at short last season, but none of the fans knew he had a lot of good first basing lying dormant in his system.

RANSOM AND DISMOND CITED FOR BRAVERY

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Sammy Ransom, one of the greatest negro football players in history, has achieved the ambition of his life, according to letters from the battle front received by friends here.

Sam—he is Lieut. Ransom now—has already proved his worth as an officer. He and Binga Dismond, former crack sprinter at the University of Chicago, have been cited for bravery.

Ransom's never-say-die spirit, typical of his gridiron playing for Hyde Park high school, Chicago, won him a commission in the army. Until a year ago, he was the door-keeper at a St. Paul club. When war came, he tried to qualify for the first officers' training camp, at Fort Snelling, but failed.

That setback did not discourage Ransom and he enlisted in the army as a private. His keen mentality, resourcefulness and ability to lead men soon advanced him to a non-commissioned officer and later he won his bars.

Ransom and Dismond participated in a raid on German trenches and their conduct under fire was the subject of special mention.

CRAWFORD'S REVENGE FOR PUNK UMPIRING

Sam Crawford was always of an easy going disposition and inclined to take things as he got them from the umpires and few were his disputes during his long career in the majors. However, Sam occasionally would figure it out in his own way that he had been given the worst of it on a decision and then he would carefully, deliberately plot to get even.

The terrible vengeance he would then wreak on the offending umpire is illustrated by a story that Sam tells himself with much gusto and many a chuckle.

"I had an argument with Jack Egan," said Sam, "but I got good and even with him you bet. He called 'em bad on me and finally I said to him:

"'Jack, you remind me of a play I saw the other night.'

"I didn't say any more just then and I could see he was puzzled. He got so curious he had to ask me what I meant.

"'What was the name of that play, Sam?' he finally asked me.

"They called it 'The Thief,' I said. And you bet, after that he didn't speak to me for a week, he was that mad. I sure rubbed that one in on him. Maybe it was a mean thing to say, but I just couldn't help it. He didn't put me out of the game though."

And Sam let it be known that he hadn't been penalized in a manner that indicated he still wonders why he wasn't suspended for life.

KIWANIS HEAD WILL ANSWER ROTARY DEFI

"Mickey" Cleary States That Challenge Will be Answered; Practice Begins

Insurance Commissioner M. J. Cleary has acknowledged the receipt of the baseball challenge which was hurled at him in his official capacity as president of the Kiwanis club by President R. J. Nesbitt of the Rotary club.

Mr. Cleary intends to answer the defi, but has been too busy thus far. The challenge asks for a game of ball between the two clubs to be played on Monona avenue before the public, preferably next Tuesday. It is planned to take up a collection for some war charity at the game. Governor Philipp will be asked to umpire.

John St. John reports that he has sent to Louisville for a special bunch of bats and that he is going to make the Rotarian nine start practicing every night for two hours.

The letter has some amusing angles:

To the Honorable M. J. Cleary,
President Kiwanis club,
State Capitol,
Madison, Wisconsin.

Dear Mickey:

The Rotary club of Madison, believing that in its membership lies the power to humble the athletic ability of some chosen exemplars of Kiwanis, does hereby challenge your organization to a game of baseball.

In order that the citizens of Madison have an opportunity of witnessing your defeat it is suggested that the game be played on a diamond to be prepared on Monona avenue, in the city of Madison, that the time of play be such that the greatest number of citizens may witness the spectacle; and that the game be played for fun, money, marbles or War Savings stamps.

It is further suggested that an umpire be selected by arbitration and that Chief Shaughnessy be advised to detail his force of uniformed men, aided and abetted by the home guards, to protect the body and person of such aforesaid umpire.

We, therefore, trust that if it is possible for a definite decision to emanate from the office of the insurance commissioner a reply be formulated whereby the people of Madison may know whether Kiwanis accepts Rotary's challenge.

Trusting that you are well and enjoying your work, we are,
Respectfully yours,
The Rotary Club of Madison,
R. J. Nesbitt,
President.

TRY TO BREAK JAP BARRIER TO INTERVENTION

Great Efforts Made to Overcome Political Opposition

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON—Great efforts apparently are being made to break down political opposition to Japanese participation in intervention in Siberia and there is a continuous coming and going of political and military personages, says a dispatch to the Daily Express from Tokio dated July 17.

The leaders of the Seiyu-Kai, the chief opponents of intervention, has long interviews with Marquis Saionji and Prince Yamagata. Some quarters, it is added, expect that a coalition ministry will be created.

AUTO AND GARBAGE TRUCK COLLIDE

An automobile collision occurred on the corner of West Washington avenue and Drake street a little after 7 o'clock this morning when the car of Mr. and Mrs. George Kraft, 341 West Johnson street, collided with one of the city garbage trucks. The Kraft car was pushed clear across the street, damaging it.

The high shrubbers on the corner of the street obstructed the view, the truck coming down Washington avenue not being visible from the Kraft car in time to stop. Mr. and Mrs. Kraft were returning to town from their cottage across the lake.

TENTH WARDERS PROTEST RAISE OF CAR FARES

Present Petition Signed by 500 to Railroad Commission

About five hundred residents of the tenth ward signed a petition protesting against the proposed raise in street car fares. The petition was drawn up and circulated after the Tenth Ward Association had met and discussed the proposed raise, and had criticised the service now offered by the Madison Railways Company. Following is the petition:

We, the under signed residents of the Tenth Ward of Madison and members of the Tenth Ward Association, respectfully petition:

That the Madison Railways Company be allowed no increase in street car fares unless shown to be absolutely necessary to pay their employees a reasonable wage, to meet unavoidable increase in material costs and pay a reasonable return on the value of the property. That in this connection the excess earnings of the company in the past should be considered and the fact that many of the patrons of the line are investing most of their income, over necessary living expenses, in government securities, bringing a return of from four to four and one-half per cent.

That if an increase in cash fare is allowed, provision should be made for reduced ticket fares. In addition, school tickets should be provided for high school and ward school pupils, and children under five years should be carried free.

That the commission enforce better service during the peak hours especially in the evening rush, and also upon special occasions.

That the city and company, with the assistance and approval of the Commission, determine upon a definite and binding policy of track relocation and extension, in order that the wasteful practice of removing sound paving be stopped, and that the people of Madison and its suburbs be assured adequate transportation in the future.

The companies arrived on a 1:30 train, and headed by their own regimental band, paraded around the square. The companies comprise the third battalion, eighth infantry. Col. Rossman, Beloit, was in command of the battalion.

Captain Leslie B. Rowley, First Lieut. Thomas E. Jones and Second Lieut. Eugene A. Fuller are the officers of Company K. Captain James P. Clarke, First Lieut. William G. Atkins, and Second Lieut. Sigurd J. Swenson are Company L's leaders.

CREDIT OFFICERS FOR FINE ATTACK

PARIS — The liveliest admiration is expressed in competent circles over Thursday's feat of arms and every credit is given the officers who carried out the attack.

Military critics are deeply impressed by the assault as being further and finer proof of General Foch's marvelous handling of his troops throughout the year's campaign. He has so husbanded them that while continually fighting defensive battles, he has always found men with which to deal a counter stroke at the right place and at the right moment. Usually, it is declared, the generalissimo has surprised the Germans who had under-estimated the French reserves.

YOUTH INJURED BY HAND CAR

Dr. A. G. Hough reports that he has made an X-ray examination of the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Rafferty in the 1300 block on East Wilson street. The little fellow was knocked down by one of the small power cars driven by a switchman on the Watertown tracks on East Wilson. The switchman did not notice the boy on the tracks till too late. He turned off power and put on the brakes, but the Rafferty boy was knocked down and dragged between the wheel and the rail.

Dr. Hough found no bones broken in his examination. The little boy is suffering from paralysis of the bladder.

8 DIVISIONS OF YANKEES ON BATTLE LINE

General March Believes This Number is Engaged in Offensive

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Eight divisions of American troops are believed to be represented in the allied fighting on the Aisne-Marne front, according to information given today to members of the house military committee in their weekly conference with General March, chief of staff.

It was stated that the drive now going on will not replace nor hinder the preparations for the great allied offensive planned for later in the year.

Details of the fighting are still lacking because official dispatches from General Pershing have been greatly delayed. General March and Assistant Secretary Crowell who participated in the conference, expressed their gratification over the part American troops are playing.

It was made plain to the committee that while eight divisions probably are represented in the fighting, that is not taken to mean that that number is actually engaged in the combat. The best trained men, however, are believed to have been picked for the operation, the committee was told.

JITNEY DRIVERS ASK LABOR'S AID

Present Resolution to Federation Asking for Support

(By the Associated Press)

RACINE, Wis.— The Wisconsin State Federation of Labor in session here today was appealed to in a resolution to support the Jitney Drivers' association of Kenosha where the police and the railway rate commission having been causing their arrest for operating without a state license on license other than those laid out by the state commission.

Another resolution provides that organized labor shall do all in its power to protect war chests. It was alleged by L. P. Christianson, a member of the committee of fifteen in control of the Racine County War Chest, that an attempt had been made to tap it in favor of the boy scouts, a nonmilitary organization.

The convention sent a telegram to Secretary of Labor Wilson asking that J. E Ferris, state government agent, be removed.

MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK—Reactions of 1 to 3 points in various equipments, tobaccos and other prominent issues, created moderate unsettlement of the stock market before the end of the first hour. Incidentally Paris sixes fell back 2 points and rails lagged. Dealings diminished to a pronounced extent with the approach of midday, the market then manifesting further irregularity on the strength of New Haven and a few specialties, notably Sumatra Tobacco, with recurrent pressure in steels.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO—Cheering war news and favorable weather gave a decided advantage today to the bears in corn. Liberal receipts tended also to pull down prices. Profit-taking by shorts brought about rallies, but the effect failed to last. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to ½c lower with August 1.55⅝ to 1.56½ and September 1.56 to ⅝, were followed by a moderate upturn and then by material breaks all around.

Oats weakened with corn. Strength in Winnipeg, however, acted as something of an offset. After opening unchanged to ⅝c lower, with August 72 to ⅞, the market hardened temporarily, but later underwent a general sag.

Firmness in the hog market was reflected by provisions.

AMERICANS SHOW NERVE AND SKILL

Perform Part in Offensive With Steadiness of Veterans

CONFIDENCE HIGH

Munitions and Hospital Transports Play Important Part in Battle

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE (Thursday, 6 p. m.)—With nightfall of the fourth day of the battle east and west of Rheims a feeling of confidence pervades the allies lines. After 80 hours of assault along lines of his own selection, the enemy's offensive seemingly has failed. He is still behind the objectives set for the first day's attack.

Gains Are Smaller

Furthermore, his gains during the entire operation were considerably smaller than those of any of his previous offensives during the present year.

While the American force engaged in the present battle is small in comparison with the total allied strength, it may be said that it is greater than any participating in a battle since the civil war, and the conduct of the men is eliciting the commendation of the French. They have performed the part assigned to them with steadiness, courage and skill.

To a large portion of the Americans these four days have been their first real fighting. Reports from along the lines indicate a great deal of clean, open warfare, some spontaneous localized actions being undertaken without a preliminary barrage, and it is in actions of this character that the American units have won the praise of the French.

The tone of Thursday's communiques and likewise the success of the counter-attacks begun early today have infected the French and American troops with high confidence in the outcome of the great enemy offensive, which now is believed not only to have been effectively checked, but in at least a small measure thrown back.

Wounded Cheerful

The American transport, both of munitions and of the hospital service, is working smoothly and efficiently. Behind the line the correspondent encountered ambulances and trucks filled with what are known as sitting cases which had already been attended to at the advanced dressing stations. These were on their way to the rear. Frequently in their passage they forced to the roadside groups of German prisoners being escorted to the pens.

The wounded were comfortable and cherful. The men in one truck were making an attempt to sing as they passed. Further to the rear long American hospital railway trains, shining with their newness, moved slowly through the ripening wheat fields and the cool forests to the bases, the wounded waving cheerfully from the windows.

SAYS BAD HOUSING IS NATION-WIDE

Prof. L. S. Smith Suggests Federal Legislation as Remedy

"Bad housing is nation-wide in extent covering city, village and farm and deserves and requires new federal legislation and federal assistance," said Prof. L. S. Smith, of the engineering department at the university, in a war course lecture at music hall Thursday afternoon.

"Of all the great democracies in the world the United States alone has persisted in its policy of entrusting industrial housing to private companies," he said. "Our greatest war problem is not to raise war budgets but to spend them. Our failure to do so has resulted in slowing up our war activities. Lack of adequate and decent industrial housing is largely responsible for this slowing up."

100 Guns Captured

PARIS — More than one hundred guns have been captured in the allied attack on the Aisne-Marne front, according to the Herald today.

The newspapers intentionally give little information in regard to the battle going on and the results obtained. They hold themselves generally to the official statement. All the critics are enthusiastic over the success obtained yesterday. By taking the initiative, it is held, General Foch has compelled the Germans, at the moment of boasting that they were delivering a supreme peace assault, to use their reserves at the point and time selected by the generalissimo.

The Echo de Paris expresses the conviction that the Franco-American success will be confirmed fully today. It says the German general staff will do its utmost to straighten out its affairs, but the allies have the upper hand. The question for General Ludendorff now is not whether to enter Epernay, declares the Matin, but to consider means for the salvation of the divisions he has thrown across the Marne.

Drive Off Raids

LONDON — German raids last night in the Villers-Bretonneux and Morlancourt sectors on either side of the Somme, were driven off by the British, says the official statement from Field Marshal Haig today. The British captured a few prisoners in successful raids in the regions of Bucquoy, Willerval and Locre.

LONDON—On the left wing, which includes the Soissons sector, the allied troops have cut or have under fire the high-road from Soissons to Chateau Thierry, says a Reuter dispatch from the French front dated 11 o'clock Thursday. The railway from Soissons to Villers-Cotterets also has been cut.

At several points infiltration movements have been carried out by cavalry. They advanced through gups in the retreating enemy line and established themselves in villages farther ahead.

American troops have been reported unofficiallyn as having reached Buzancy, an advance of six miles, which would bring them across both the road and the railway mentioned.

NORTON WILLIAMS IN PATRIOTIC TALK

County Board Chairman Urges Community to Get Behind Army

"We must win this war, there is no half way about it," said Norton Williams, chairman of the Dane county board, in a patriotic address at a community meeting at Springdale Thursday night.

He said in part:

"The boys in the trenches cannot defend us unless they have abundance of arms, ammunition, food and clothing. This must be provided by us who stay at home. One of the worst things you could do would be to stay at home and fail in your duty to support in every way possible those who are fighting for us at the front so we may stay home and live.

"The false rumors and malicious stories being circulated as facts, discrediting the high officials of our government, the care and conduct of our troops, the conditions of our cantonments, thae Red Cross supplies are being used and sold by Red Cross officials, that this is a rich man's war, that farmers and manufacturers are profiteering, are German propaganda intended to create distrust and discontent among our people."

BENTLEY WILL NOT BE A CANDIDATE

Frank R. Bentley of Baraboo will not be a candidate for attorney general. The republican contest will be between Spencer Haven, present attorney general, and John J. Blaine of Boscobel.

"I've concluded not to be a candidate for attorney general," said Mr. Bentley. "Friends have strongly urged me to run. Recently I attended two conferences in Milwaukee; but I have strong reasons for my course. In the first place I believe I can be of more use in continuing the war work to which I have been devoting most of my time this year. Secondly I do not want to be the means of defeating Spencer Haven."

NO FURLOUGHS FOR DRAFT MEN

That the farm boys who have been called into service, by the calls just issued, cannot be given a furlough until August 10, without seriously interfering with the military program, was the answer which Provost Marshal General Crowder made in reply to a telegram by Governor Philipp, asking that the boys be allowed to remain until August to complete the farm work of the state.

REPUBLICANS AWAIT WORD FROM TEDDY

New York Politicians Anxious to Know What Colonel Will Do

(By the Associated Press)

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—Governor Whitman will remain a candidate for renomination no matter whether Colonel Roosevelt consents to enter the primaries, according to announcement this forenoon by William A. Orr, the governor's secretary.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—What will Colonel Roosevelt's answer be?

This question was uppermost in the minds of delegates to the republican state convention as they gathered today for the second day's session.

The bomb shells thrown into the politicians' quarters late last night by the announcement of Attorney General Merton E. Lewis, chief rival of Governor Whitman for the republican nomination for governor that he would withdraw if the colonel would enter the primaries, and the circulation of a round robin by some of the most influential strategists of the party requesting the colonel to run, completely overshadowed the previously arranged program of the day. This called for the adoption of a platform, and a speech by former President William H. Taft.

FAMOUS ATHLETES COME WITH CIRUS

Champions From Iceland, Japan and South Sea Islands to Perform

Powerful athletes from Iceland, Japan, the South Sea Islands and elsewhere promise to be one of the sensational features of the great strength tournament which is to be given here Tuesday, July 30, as part of Ringling Brothers' circus program.

The Mikado has sent his own companies of 30 jiu jitsu experts. These companies are composed of the Otawaga and the Tamaki champions. They will demonstrate the Japanese art of self-defense, broadsword and lance combats and giving amazing exhibitions in wrestling and strangling.

The part played by Miss Ai Kishi, a 15-year-old girl with the Tamaki troupe, repulses masculine attacks with knife, fist and club, demonstrating that a knowledge of jiu-jitsu secures feminine immunity from harm by masher or marauder.

The early Norseman's method of self-defense will be illustrated by a company of powerful Icelanders headed by the giant champion, Johannes. "Glima" is a form of wrestling and self-defense practically unknown in this and many other countries, yet has been a sport in Iceland since the eleventh century. While similar to the Japanese method of self-defense, known as jiu-jitsu, it is considered vastly superior to the latter. Johannes has won the championship of Iceland for two successive years. The Icelander has brought three famous experts with him for his exhibitions under canvas. He concludes his performances by frustrating the combined attack made upon him by a trio armed with knives, clubs and revolvers.

The athletic numbers form but one of scores of features that make this season's the most remarkable show the Ringlings have ever placed on tour. The colossal spectacle of chivalry and knighthood, "In Days of Old," is said to be the most magnificent ever devised. A cast of more than 1,200 characters tell the story of days "when knights were bold." There is a ballet of hundreds of beautiful girls. Mingling with these will be the antics of 80 clowns.

UNITED STATES REJOICES OVER GREAT VICTORY

Washington Believes Successes Mark End of Defensive Policy

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The American nation today came to a realization that its army, in co-operation with the gallant soldiers of France, had won its first great victory on European soil.

Surprised and scarcely able to grasp the extent of the offensive operations between the Aisne and the Marne as the fragmentary details came in during the day yesterday, the American people today saw that American soldiers, many of whom were in civilian life 12 months ago, had received their first baptism of fire and in six hours had won more ground, taken more prisoners and captured more war supplies from the enemy than did the Germans in three days of a carefully prepared offensive along the Marne early in the week.

The belief was expressed widely in official circles that the tables had been definitely turned, that yesterday's successes between Chateau Thierry and Soissons, the first allied offensive of any consequence of the year, mark the end of the allied defensive policy and that the point has been reached in the accumulation of man-power and munitions in France where General Foch is enabled to assume his favorite role as an offensive leader.
